

CREATE A NEW PAGE

Step 1: Click Add New to a new page.

To add a new page, hover your mouse to the Pages menu and a submenu will appear. Click on Add New and a standard WordPress page editor will be seen.

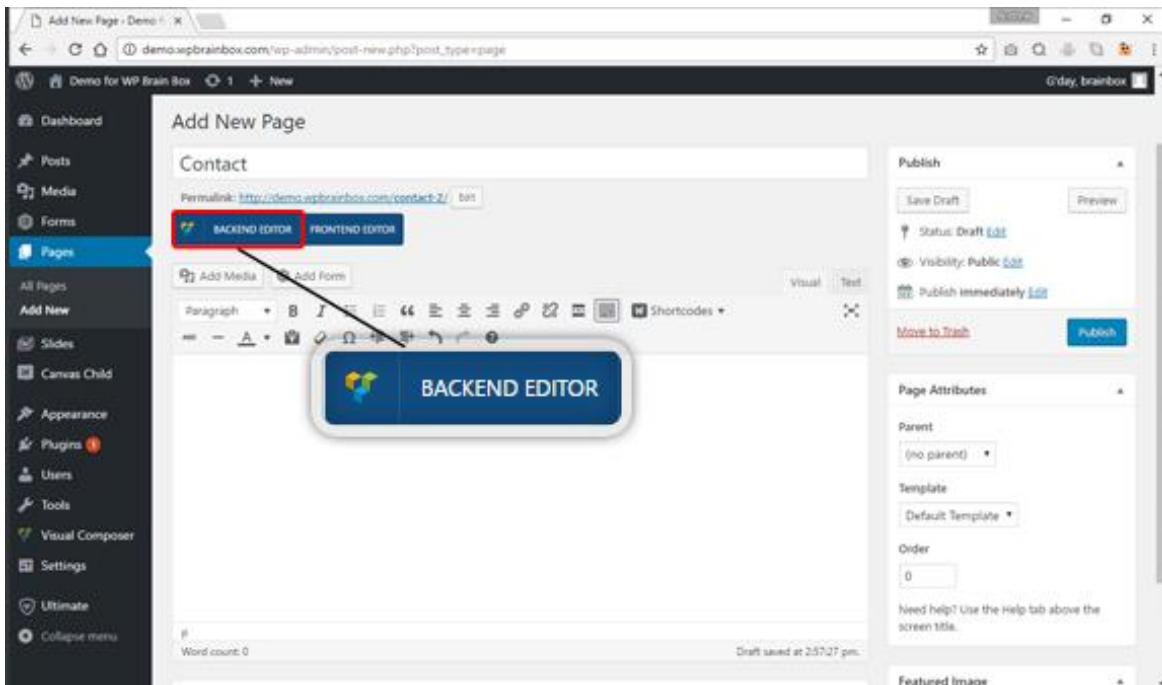

Step 2: Customize your page

We are now in the normal, single column editor that comes with every WordPress website. Now you are free to name your page any name you want, for here we'll just name the page as "Contact". If you'd like, you can use a normal WordPress mode. We can also put some text, just like in the image above, and we can carry on and filling it just like normal.

Step 2: Use Visual Composer's backend editor

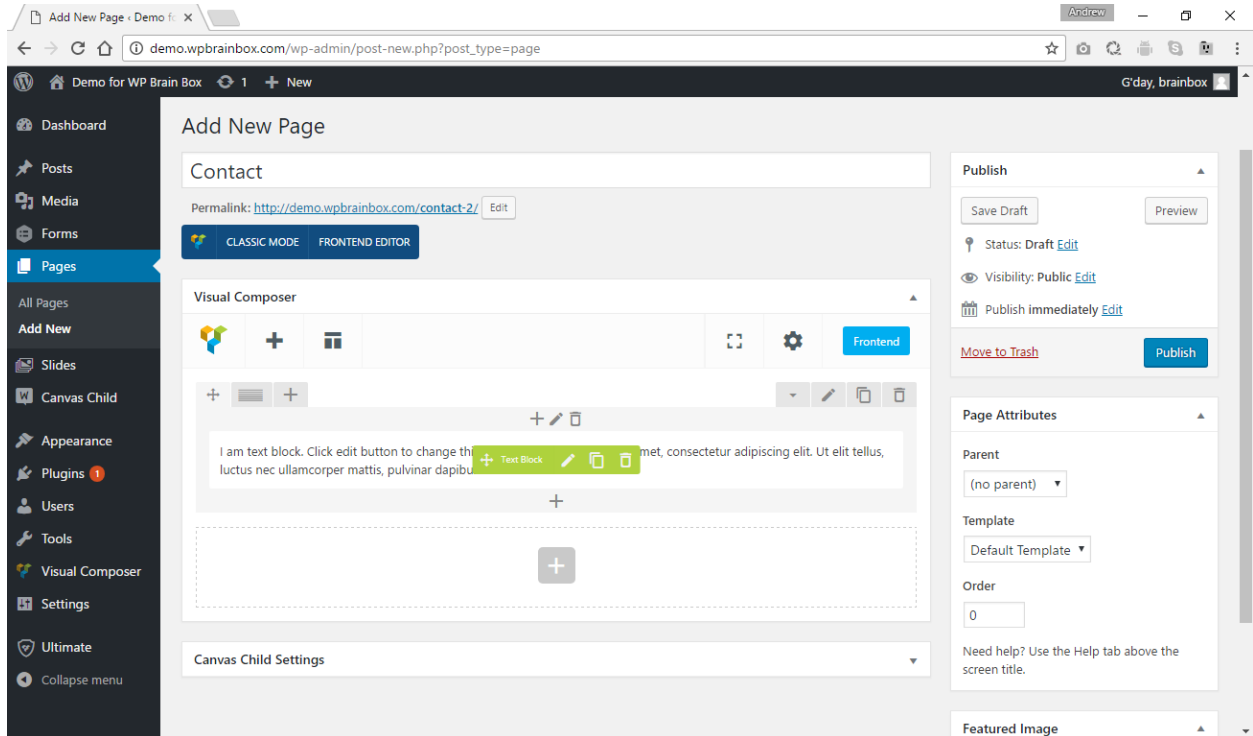

If you are using Visual Composer plugin, you can use the backend editor. To proceed with the backend editor, click on the blue-colored button with Back-end Editor text on it below the permalink.

Step 3: Add a text block

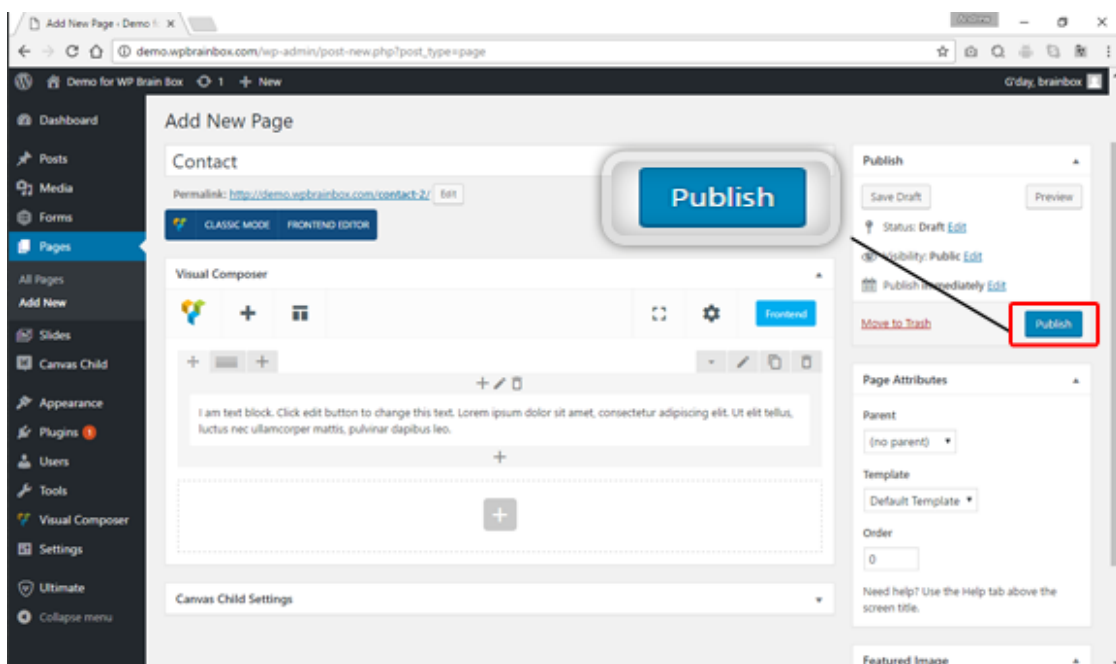

The most basic thing we can probably do is to add a text block in the page. To add a text block, click on the green-colored button with Add Text Block text on it.

Step 4: Text block added

After click the button, this will give you a box with a default template that we can edit. As presented in the image above, we've got a text editor and we can also add some columns and few other things that would be quite useful.

Last Step: Publish your Page

Once finished, click on the Publish button located at the right side of your page to publish your page. To check your page, click on the permalink to visit your newly created page.
